A Story from the life in an Aquarium

Once there was a boy who had a big aquarium in his room. All the fish got along with one another just fine, until one day the boy put a new fish into the aquarium. The new fish was very beautiful. The very moment she splashed into the aquarium, the new fish called out loudly: "Hey, you, everyone who lives in this old box, come out and meet your queen!" One little crab crawled out and said: "We've never had a queen before". "Now that I have come, everything must be changed" said silver fish. The kind hearted little crab got very upset. From that moment on, life in the aquarium changed. She divided the aquarium into two parts. The biggest part where the plants grew thickest and it is more comfortable, the new fish assigned to herself. All the rest of the fish had to crowd into the smaller part where there were no plants.

Eventually the boy noticed that this fish were not looking well. Usually the aquarium was alive with happy fish. Now they were grouped into the one section ignoring their food. Only the new fish seemed happy and dancing freely in the water. The boy put that fish into the separate jar. All the fish sighed with relief when the fish went into the separate jar.

One day the queen was sleeping in his jar and pet cat was just about to stick his paw into her jar when something astonishing happened. The little crab threw himself against the glass with all his power. The old aquarium shook and created a loud sound. The cat was frightened by the noise and fled.

The queen fish asked the crab, humbled by his bravery, "Please let me live together with you into the aquarium, the best home for fish is the entire world". The old aquarium glowed with happiness when it heard such words of praise.
